ENGLAND GOES TO POLLS FOLLOWING HEATED CAMPAIGN

SOVIET LETTER FANS ANTI-LABORER SENTIMENT.
APATHY VANISHES
Reputation of Government Anticipated by Drift of Opinion.

(By Associated Press)
London.—The women's vote, heavier than it had ever been before, according to reports received this afternoon at headquarters of the three political parties, was the feature today of the balloting in the British general election. Women were casting more votes than ever before, especially in the east and south London working class districts.

(By Associated Press)
London.—Great Britain's voters went to the polls today to choose a new parliament to replace that dissolved at the instance of the laborite prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, on Oct. 9, following an unfavorable vote in the commons.

(By Associated Press)
London.—The results of the election will tell whether the conservatives have been able to regain the majority over all other parties necessary to put them back in office.

Up to a few days ago public interest in the outcome seemed untheatrical, but the sensational campaign, the publication of the Zinovieff letter, and the British communists' intensive propaganda and organization of units within the British army and navy, have been the chief factors in the election.

576 Ancient Seats.
The true effect of this development cannot be gauged accurately in advance. It may be taken as an indication which way the wind blows, the strength of the liberal, conservative, and laborite parties, and that of the conservatives and laborites both is increasing.

There has been an explosion of lack of confidence, however, on the part of Mr. Asquith or Mr. Lloyd George. Today's vote will fill 576 vacant seats in parliament, 225 from the Conservatives, 225 from the laborites, while seven university members are to be elected by postal ballot.

FORGAN, BANK PIONEER, DEAD

(By Associated Press)
Chicago.—While his life formed the words of his favorite hymn, sung by his pastor and members of his family, Francis Forgan, banker, died last night of heart disease in a hospital here.

Two hours before his death, the 72-year-old banker, chairman of the board of the First National bank, and the First Trust and Savings bank, sent for his family and the Rev. John Timothy Ryan, pastor of the Holy Trinity church, of which he was a regular attendant. With them he received passages of scripture and joined in singing hymns as he slipped away. He had been ill only five days.

QUESTION TWO IN ROBBERY

(By Associated Press)
Chicago.—Frank Chase and his wife, Avis, arrested Monday in a bank robbery in Chicago, are in connection with the $2,000,000 mail train holdup at Rendell, Ill., last June, were brought here early today and questioned by postal inspectors.

With them were returned $20,000 in currency and jewelry valued at $10,000, found in their room when they were arrested.

Precautions to prevent a rescue attempt were taken by the United States marshals and federal agents who took them from the train in the outskirts of Chicago and brought them to the federal building in Indianapolis, Indiana, by 20 inspectors armed with shotguns.

A Cook's Tour for Cooks

All you have to do now is to say "the word" and the cooks will start on the tour which leads them to you.

Ten of them have just answered a "Help Wanted" ad with the results that the Park Hotel secured competent help the day after it appeared.

Chicago.—Expenditures by the railroad brotherhoods on behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket will form one phase of the inquiry into campaign costs to be conducted here by the senate campaign fund investigating subcommittee, under the direction of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. A request for the summoning of Warren S. Stone of the locomotive engineers' organization and Lee Sheppard, president of the conductors' organization has been made to the subcommittee by Weymouth Kirkland, counsel for the Republican national committee.

Senator Borah and his colleague, Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, are due here today from Washington and will get the Chicago end of the general investigation under way as quickly as possible. They are accompanied by Mr. Kirkland and Samuel Untermyer of New York, a supporter of John W. Davis, who has been associated before the committee with Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator La Follette.

Raise Union Money.
H. L. Branson of Washington, a machinist, told the committee he had been delegated to raise contributions from the trade unions for La Follette and had received approximately $120,000 from approximately 85,000 contributors. He declared that 90 percent of the contributors were workers throughout the country who contributed one dollar.

"Six percent of the fund was contributed by unions, as such," he added.

"Do you not know that some of the mine unions in Illinois have levied special assessments for the La Follette campaign?" Kirkland asked.

"No, I do not."

Union Leaders Called.
At the close of the morning session, Senator Borah issued subpoenas for W. R. Street, district chairman of the United Association of Railway Employees, and Otto Bland, president of the shopkeepers' union of the Northwestern railway company, both of Chicago, calling for their appearance here. They were summoned at the request of counsel for La Follette, who said they could testify regarding the "history of labor leaders."

Probe Hired Stomper.
From that the committee moved on to charges that an effort had been made to hire a hired stomper to stump for Coolidge.

Henry L. Ramm, a railroad foreman of Lawrence, Mass., a La Follette supporter, testified that H. V. Drew, a former supporter of La Follette, had offered him $11 a day and $11 for expenses to support Coolidge and make speeches for him.

Similar offers, Ramm declared, had been made to other railroad men in Lawrence and one accepted it.

W. L. Bourland, counsel for the Republican national committee, drew from Ramm a statement that he had solicited funds from labor unions at Lawrence, receiving $25 from the railroad union and $25 from the Shipstead union.

"Is the grand lodge paying your transportation and time lost by your presence here?" Bourland asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"Do you know of any men being dismissed from the union because of their support of Coolidge?"

"No, but I have heard of men being dismissed for supporting La Follette."

"Where?"

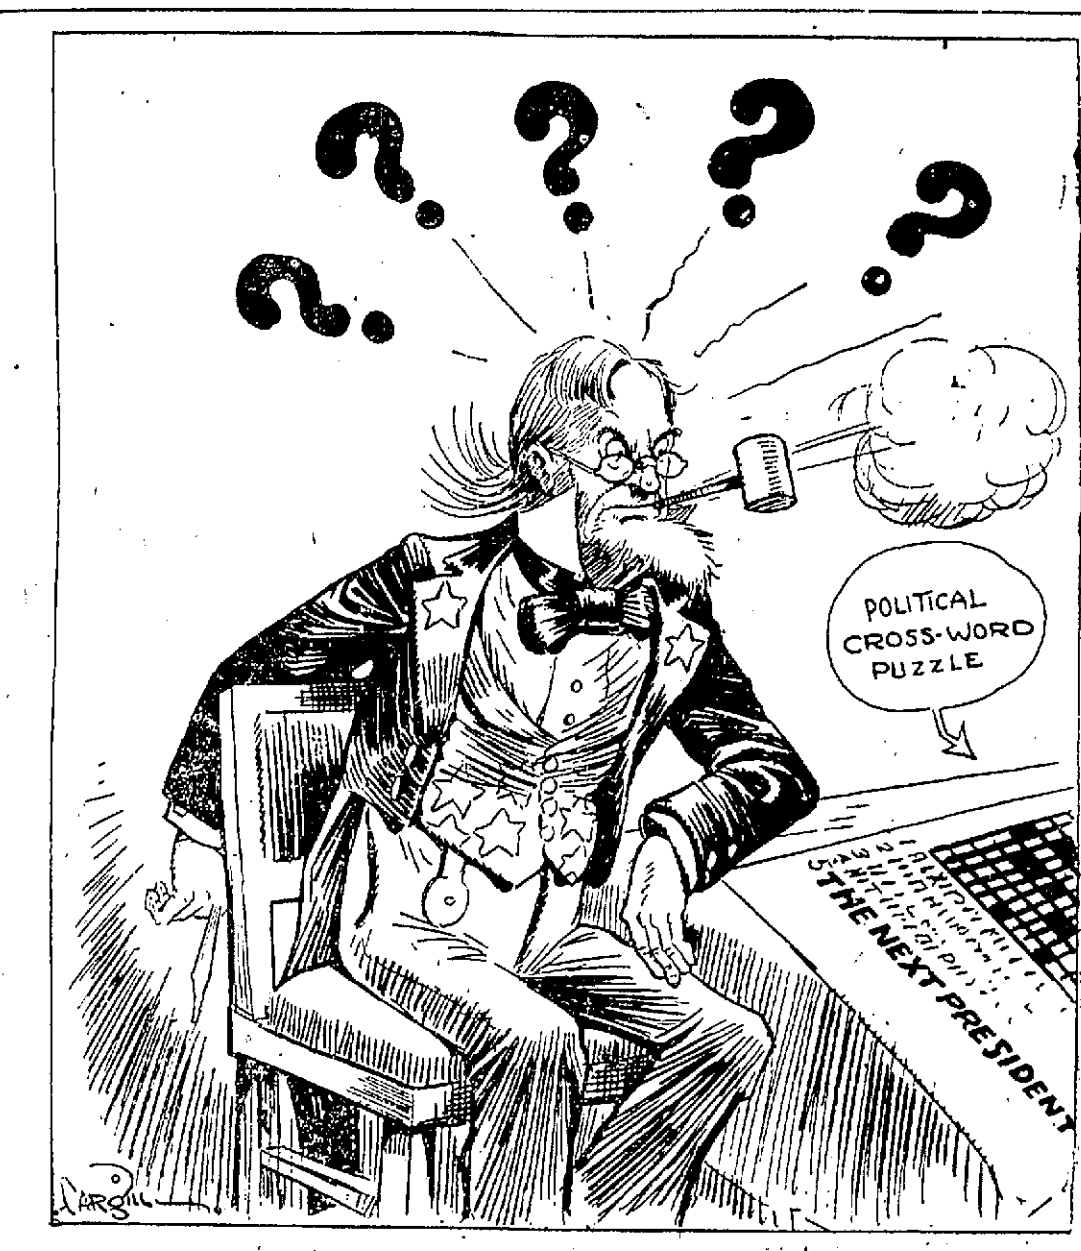

"At the American Woollen company at Lawrence, Mass."

LIONS BACK DIRECTORS IN "Y" DONATION

Unanimous endorsement of the action of the club directors in providing a $1,000 memorial room in the new Y. M. C. A. building was given by the Lions club at its weekly meeting Wednesday noon.

A show committee, to plan for an entertainment sometime this winter, was appointed with Dr. W. T. Clark as chairman and J. J. Marzens and Ralph Morse, members.

ATLANTA CONVICT, IN STATEMENT ADMITS HIS FRAUD.
FAITH SHATTERED
Menasha Pair Returns Home Disappointed as Daughter Digs Out Truth.

(By Associated Press)
Atlanta, Ga.—Stripped of the romance possibility that he was a long lost son, mangled as a fallen hero of the World War, Robert E. St. Clair today again faces the sordid monotony of life in the federal prison here, Jan. 1, he stated a statement in which he repudiated his claims that he is really Urban John Bergeron of Menasha, Wis.

The statement published by the Constitution comes as the climax of several years of an attempt to counter the hoax.

Des Moines.—The state of Iowa paid final homage to her illustrious son, the late Secretary Henry C. Wallace. This morning the right wing of the first balcony of the capitol building, a military guard watched over the casket which held the body of the secretary.

Heaped high about the casket, placed upon a catafalque which the railing of the first balcony of the capitol, were the floral tributes of the state and nation, including that of President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Mrs. Wallace and her two daughters and three sons, John P. Wallace, brother of the secretary of the interior, Howard S. Gore, ailing secretary of agriculture, and others who made up the funeral party which accompanied the body from Washington, went directly from the capitol to the Wallace home here.

Secretary Work, who was President Coolidge's personal representative at the funeral today, was one of the honorary pallbearers.

THRIFTY FARMER SAVES $4 IN PLEA TO JUDGE GRIMM

(Special to the Gazette)
Monroe.—The claim that a drift was practiced here Tuesday by Ludwig Terlin, a Green county farmer, who saved $4 on a fine assessed in justice court, by appealing to Judge George Grimm of the Green county circuit court. Grimm fined him $1, upholding the justice's verdict in finding him guilty of the violation of a statute which says no man shall do other than necessary labor on Sunday, commonly known as a "blue law."

A neighborhood quarrel with Robert Maske is said to have led to Terlin being haled into court, with the former as the complaining witness. Deep seated religious belief that six days shall man labor but on the seventh do no work, and a desire to even the score with Terlin, was said to have led Maske to sign a complaint, which brought his neighbor before a justice.

Terlin exercised his constitutional right and appealed to the higher court. The blue laws were upheld, and Terlin paid but $1 instead of $5.

Victory Crowns Historic Drive in Closing Hours

In a mighty swell of civic pride, in the closing hours of a never to be forgotten community drive, Janesville rose to the challenge Tuesday night and put over the gigantic project of raising $276,000 whereby this city is assured of a new Y. M. C. A. building. The clang of church and fire bells, the blowing of whistles, the booming of a tank's 37 millimeter guns, and shouts of scores of enthusiastic workers, proclaimed to the world at 11 o'clock last night that Janesville had met the challenge of its boyhood and would prepare for the future. Faced by the apparently insurmountable task of raising $276,000 between noon and midnight, the workers went out with a determination never before witnessed in a local campaign and turned defeat into glorious victory.

DREAM OF LIFE IS REALIZED

Dramatic moments marked the few hours of the frenzied effort. Dollar by dollar the goal was neared and in the hours of the heroic workers were light and community love that made it impossible for the cause to fail. Apparently final reports from team captains showed that a total of $264,732 had been subscribed, only $11,268 short of the goal. A stirring appeal for "Victory Funds" was made by E. J. Moore, Janesville manager, who urged the workers to make a last-minute effort to reach the goal. Then started the extraordinary two hour period during which more than the required amount was raised among the workers present at the Y. M. C. A. building. Immediately after the appeal Mr. Palmer arose and announced that he would give $515 additional to the $10,000 he had pledged earlier in the day. The total (Continued on Page 1)

Before his death, Kresge became so violent that he had to be placed in a strait jacket. He also had been placed in a strait jacket. The gas who died were similarly affected.

Herbert Faxon, also of Elizabeth, is in a critical condition at the hospital. He also has been placed in a strait jacket. Fifteen other employees are in the same hospital in varying stages of ailment produced by the gas.

HUNT CHARGES KEPT SECRET

Efforts today to obtain copies of the charges from those who have filed them were unavailing.

DIRECTOR MOGGE REJOICES OVER A GREAT SUCCESS

The task of raising a fund of $276,000 in addition to the equality in the present property, to provide Janesville with a new, modern Y. M. C. A. building and equipment has been accomplished. The success is indeed a worthy achievement and cause for congratulation and pride. The workers who made the intensive canvass of the city during the past few days have responded, and the highest commendation for their success is the fact that the success of this most laudable undertaking.

To W. F. Palmer, George S. Parker, Mrs. J. J. Lovelock, Frank S. Hines, H. Lovelock and scores of others whose generous gifts made possible the final attainment of the $276,000 goal, this community is indebted in a very special way. Y. M. C. A. campaigns like this only succeed because men and women of large vision and high character have taken the lead in success with substantial contributions. However, we desire that it be understood that every subscription, however small, has been an important factor in the raising of the total result of $276,000, and that there is equal appreciation to all on the part of the Young Men's Christian Association in Janesville.

I congratulate the city upon its fine showing and bespeak for the Y. M. C. A. the greatest success of the citizens, as this fund is collected and administered in behalf of the boys and young men of Janesville. It marks the beginning of a new era of usefulness on the part of the Y. M. C. A. and places upon the leadership of the Association the great responsibility of administering this fund as a public trust for the betterment of the youth of the city.

ERNEST L. MOGGE, Campaign Director.

FALL CLEANUP OF STREETS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Trucks and crews of men from the department of public works will start next week on the semi-annual cleanup of every street in the city. The cleanup will be supervised by Joseph Lustig, engineer in charge of streets, and the co-operation of citizens is sought. The request is made that leaves be raked into the gutters this week so they can be picked up when the cleanup begins, as each street will be visited only once during the fall work.

A city grading crew is engaged this week in grading and grading West State street from the "Gutter" to the Wallace home here.

A second crew is working on new sidewalks and sidewalks for the municipal golf course at Riverside park. The fourth crew is working on the concrete in which posts have been placed has set sufficiently.

The policy of the democratic party, said John W. Davis in a statement, is to "readjust the balance and to put agriculture where it belongs—on an equality with industry."

SHORTHORNS MAKE NEW HIGH RECORDS

Brookside Medora Leading Two Year Old—Dairymaid on New Record.

By T. L. TORMEY

Brookside Medora, a Milking Shorthorn heifer owned by H. E. Toner, Washingtonville, N. Y., completed a 365 day record September 28, 1924, and established a new high record for a junior two year old Milking Shorthorn in the United States. Starting on the record September 22, 1922, at the age of two years, four months and nine days she finished the year's production with 13,755.5 pounds of milk and 257.12 pounds of butterfat, replacing the former junior two year old leader in milk, Victory Queen who had a record of 11,727.5 pounds of milk and 222.22 pounds of butterfat. Knowlsey's Item 1019018 who led the class in fat production with 10,995.5 pounds of milk and 479.10 pounds of fat.

This makes two new leaders developed in the herd of Mr. Toner during 1924. On March 28, 1924, Dairymaid 674122 established a new high milk record for an Milking Shorthorn cow in the United States with a 365 production of 19,066.5 pounds of milk and 659.45 pounds of fat. Dairymaid started on a new record June 15, 1924, and from that date to Oct. 1, 1924 produced 5,082.8 pounds of milk and 155.05 pounds of fat. During the two months, July and August of the present record she produced 4,142.5 pounds of milk and 135.20 pounds of fat against 3,822 pounds of milk and 125.04 pounds of fat for the two high months of the previous record.

Both Brookside Medora and Dairymaid were bred by Frank S. Grace, Columbia, Cross Roads, Pennsylvania, and are of American breeding. It is important to note that these two cows have been bred for milk production for some generations back.

ANDERSON INQUEST SET FOR FRIDAY

Whaley Fixes Date for Hearing on Liquor Death.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Anna Anderson, 644 Harding street, who died after drinking liquor at her home, will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday at the city hall.

Her husband, Albert Anderson, is out on bail on charges growing out of his confession that his wife drank liquor which he said he had purchased from Mrs. Joseph Bauer who is charged with manslaughter.

Changes of venue have been filed in municipal court this week by J. P. Chute in two cases, one of which he is a defendant and in the other is the plaintiff. Both petitions have been granted by Judge H. L. Jaxfield and the actions are thus transferred to circuit court for trial.

KELLER CALLS ON VETERANS TO VOTE

American Legion's Duty to Perpetuate U. S. Traditions Says Speaker.

The duty of the American Legion is to keep alive the traditions of America and the immediate duty of every veteran of the World War is to get out and vote on election day next week, declared L. Hugo Keller, American Legion, state commander of the American Legion in addressing the annual banquet of the Richard Ellis Janesville post, Tuesday night, at the Grand hotel.

The banquet was attended by 200 service men. It was preceded by a parade of the "vets" from the city hall to the hotel led by the high school band and a march from the railway station to the city hall by a guard of honor that met the state commander. The west end of Milwaukee street was decorated in the national colors for the occasion. There were visitors from Beloit and Milton.

Ford New Commander.
During the banquet the new officers were installed by N. L. Haight, Racine, first district commander. George DeBruin, Beloit, second district commander; Walter Krueger, second vice-commander; William Kardus, adjutant; John Fox, finance officer; Edgar Jersild, chaplain; Joseph Lantieri, historian; Russell Smiley, service officer; Dewey Oberholzer, sergeant-at-arms; and William Moore, quartermaster.

Telling as commander, John W. Gies, Jr., stated that the legion is stronger than ever, that it has come out of debt to have a treasury balance, that it has increased its membership by 100 to 240 and that during the next year should strive to further add to its numbers.

Urges Care for Disabled.
In his talk, Commander Keller declared that the spirit of self-sacrifice that animated the men of the World War must be continued in the aid of veterans who lie in hospitals, asylums and asylums of the country. He appealed to the Legion men to see the mission of their organization in working to bring the disabled back to health and to ease the sufferings of the penniless and homeless.

"There are boys without arms, without legs, without eyes and without minds. Remember the American Legion today is the arm of the man without arms, is the leg of the man without legs, is the eye of the man without eyes and is the mouth of those whose minds have gone," he said.

Minority Run Government.
It is the duty of the commander, Mr. Keller declared, to take from the falling arms of the Grand Army the task of keeping alive the traditions of America, stating that in a republic the government can live only where the citizens have ideas. He told of the winning fight waged by the Legion in keeping distorted histories from the public schools that would have been down the traditions of the nation.

He declared that the Legion should work to get out the vote irrespective of party or creed for such work is in accordance with the Legion's policy of Americanization. Because the people do not vote, the government is run by a minority, he said, in which a few people can get together and control.

Stating that the ballot is a priceless heritage, the speaker said there is too much empty oratory and dirty politics and that "we are here to live peacefully as neighbors to neighbor and to stop those who would put us against each other."

"We did not establish this government," he said. "Others did it with their blood and property. We are their trustees whose duty it is to pass that government on to posterity."

Officers Make Reports.
Reports were made by the outgoing officers. They were commander, George DeBruin; second vice, William Kardus; adjutant, L. G. Gies, Jr.; finance officer, Leo Ford, sergeant-at-arms; and William Moore.

Entertainment was provided by Fred Palmer and Eddie Chappell, string instrument artists; the Leo Sisters of Chicago at the courtesy of the Jaffa theater, with Arthur H. Hase at the piano; Miss Geraldine Maude Bruce, formerly of Janesville, who is appearing at the Apollo and came at the courtesy of James Zanini, with Mrs. Dudley Sommerfeld at the piano and Cleo Ford, violinist; and by George Turner, of Beloit, sleight of hand performer.

Walter Krueger was general chairman of banquet arrangements with Ralph Kamps in charge of the parade. Edgar Jersild, decorations; and Maurice Weirich, entertainment.

Cribbage Tonight—Final games in the Eagles' cribbage tournament will be played in the lodge rooms at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

NEW NAMES ADDED TO REGISTRY LIST

Registration Day Turnout Larger Than in Past—Expect Big Vote.

Between 250 and 300 names were added to registration lists of voters of Janesville on the regular registration day, Tuesday, according to the turnout over to City Clerk-Treasurer A. J. Olson by election board chairman on Wednesday. The turnout at the polls was considerably larger than it has been on registration days in previous years, probably due to the effort being made here in the "Vote as you please, but vote" campaign.

The polls in the 10 precincts were open from 2 a. m. to 8 p. m., the majority of the names being added during the noon. The city clerk's office and the Gazette answered a large number of calls from citizens in regard to boundary lines of precincts and the location of polling booths.

From the increased registration Tuesday and the fact that presidential elections always attract a large vote, indications are for a heavy poll in Janesville next Tuesday, Nov. 4. The advance vote is the largest ever recorded so far ahead of election day, more than 100 requests for mail ballots having been received by the city clerk up to Wednesday noon from people who will be unable to go to the polling places Tuesday, due to illness or necessary absence from the city.

The Biggest Thing Janesville Ever Did

Building a new Y. M. C. A. structure, raising $275,000 for the purpose, is the biggest thing
Janesville has ever done.

There is glory enough for all.

Joseph Conrad wrote once that "Every sort of shouting is a transitory thing. It is the grim silence of facts that counts." The application in this political campaign is obvious.

A Genuine Official

Attorney General Stone is going right along doing business regardless of the political campaign
and the mosquito fleet of orators on the stump denouncing and redemonstrating. He takes a leaf from the book of Calvin Coolidge who exasperates
the political enemy by attending to his own business
during the thunderstorm of a campaign.

The attorney general let it be known that four federal district attorneys have been fired and six more have quit since July. That is housecleaning.
District attorneys will have to be on the job whether it is concerning prohibition cases or something else. There will be some more things happening in connection with the department of justice when Mr. Stone gets under way. Agents of the department, those investigators, of which the notorious Gaston Means was a brilliant example,
have been removed in flocks.

Attorney General Stone was attacked without rhyme or reason when he was appointed by Pres.
Coolidge to the same interests which are going to perfect a government if they get into power as never before. But Gen. Stone has displayed so great ability and fearlessness that it would be hard indeed to find a better department head than he.

It took everybody to do it but the new Y building
is going to be there to stay.

Saving the Sugar Beet for the Farmer

Wisconsin has a good money crop in the sugar beet. Farmers have added to the acreage and sugar mills have been erected in a number of places where labor has found good employment
often at a time of the year when other industries
and farm work are lagging.

The republican congress under the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, gave the beet raisers a small amount of protection against the half-slave labor of Cuba and other tropical countries. The opponents of the sugar tariff are the great plantation owners of Cuba and the American owners of other Cuban plantations. Most of these latter are the great banking houses of New York, and other interests which make up what is popularly known as "Wall Street." Every cent of protection given the sugar beet raiser was granted in spite of the opposition of the sugar trust and these Wall Street interests. The effort to overthrow the tariff on sugar and make it impossible for the beet sugar makers to compete with the sugar trust, is now inspired from that section of the moneyed interests. It is selfish and one-sided.

Here in Wisconsin we have a few newspapers and several politicians demanding that the beet sugar protection should be stopped and the inevitable consequences of a destruction of the sugar beet production come about. That will give a monopoly for the raisers of sugar outside of the United States and the refiners of such sugar will again be able to control the market with 20 cent sugar.

They cannot do it now because of the sugar beet. One of the largest cane sugar refiners in the world, Speckles, is head of the Third Party in California. The connection is obvious and accounts for the attacks on the sugar tariff made by the leaders of that party.

Anybody casting aspersions at Janesville will be shown the record of the last five days.

Maybe It Has Got to Be a Crime

Judge Luck faces the serious charge that he was loyal to the United States of America during the war. The socialists, supporting, managing and backing the Third Party in Wisconsin have brought the indictment and in it find that Judge Luck is thereby totally unfitted to be governor.

Ira Lorenz, who was selected as a member of the republican national committee by the Wisconsin delegation at the Cleveland convention and is La Follette's campaign manager in Wisconsin, personally brings the charges. One can see the socialists of the state who support Blaine, gasping with horror at the fact that Luck was giving aid to the American government in time of war.

Governor Blaine arrived home and found the state all upset. There was a regular tidal wave for Luck. It was promising to engulf the governor. He at once issued a statement in defense of his administration. He made up some tax figures which were not the figures of the state tax commission. He attempted to show that taxes had been greatly reduced during his administration.
At the same time Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman was giving out figures that showed state warrants had been issued for net disbursements of $4,678,378 for 1924 and in 1915 there were $15-729,260—more than twice as much in 1924 as in 1915.

Then there was the revolt of the German vote and all heading into the camp of Judge Luck and therefore the change of Lorenz that the judge was altogether too earnest in his support of the United

ELECTION POSSIBILITIES

By FREDERICK J. HANKIN.

Washington—Inquiries received by various campaign committees and by newspapers in all parts of the country indicate a widespread if not general lack of knowledge or understanding on the part of the public as to what may happen in connection with the presidential election on Nov.

This may be a result of a change in the style of campaign slogans this year. Heretofore the party propagandists have usually adopted slogans or rallying cries that promised something advantageous to the voters. Years ago, for instance, the democrats sang a song, the burden of which was "Four years more of Grover and we will be in clover." Later the republicans invoked the waver-ing or undecided voters to vote for "McKintley
and the full dinner pail," and that sort of thing has been the feature of most campaigns.

This year, however, a republican publicist hit upon an alternative warning rather than a promise to the public and a much-better slogan has been "Coolidge or chaos." And whether or not that is the cause, it is apparent that a somewhat chaotic state of mind prevails as to what may follow the battle of the ballots on Tuesday next.

The advent of a third party of sufficiently formidable proportions to warrant the fear or hope that it may carry one or more states has created a situation such that a president may not be elected November 4. The election may be thrown into congress, and out of that may grow complications
such as the American people have never known.

Strictly speaking, a president is never elected directly by the quadrennial popular balloting.
Presidential electors are chosen in the several states, and those electors choose the chief executive. However, these electors have come by practice and by tradition to be mere figureheads. They are nominated by political parties and they always vote for the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of their respective parties. Consequently when one party carries a sufficient number of states to have a majority of the electoral college it is always said that the candidates of that party have been elected, and that they have received a popular vote corresponding to the aggregate vote cast for the electors of their party.

As a matter of fact, there is nothing in the constitution and nothing in the laws that have been enacted by congress that requires the presidential electors to vote for the candidates of their respective parties. They might exercise their own judgments and indulge their own preferences when they meet to cast the ballot for president. A republican elector could vote for Davis and a democratic elector could vote for Coolidge, or a progressive elector could vote for Coolidge or Davis. Indeed, an elector could vote for someone who had never even been nominated as a candidate for president.

There are 531 members of the electoral college—as many as there are members of both houses of congress. To elect a president a majority of 266 votes is required. If no candidate receives a majority, then the election of the president is thrown into the house of representatives, and the election of the vice president devolves
upon the senate.

There is no meeting of the whole body of presidential electors. The electors of each state meet in their state capital and cast a formal ballot, and three certificates of the result of this ballot are prepared and signed by all the electors. One certificate is sent to the president of the United States senate by messenger and one by mail, and the third is deposited with the judge of the United States district court of the district in which the electors meet.

The official and formal counting of the electoral vote as a whole takes place the second Wednesday in February at a joint meeting of the two houses of congress. If it is then shown that no candidate for president and no candidate for vice president has at least the required 266 votes, then the house of representatives proceeds to choose a president while the senate gets busy in the effort to name a vice president.

In the house, each state has one vote, which is cast by a majority decision of representatives from that state, and a majority of the whole number of states is required to elect. Since there are 48 states a candidate must command the votes of 25
to be successful.

In the present house neither the democrats nor the republicans can control the votes of 25 states
on a straight party division, hence the possibility of a deadlock and the failure of the house to elect a president.

In the senate, in choosing a vice president, each senator has one vote and a majority of the whole number is required to elect—49 of the 96 senators.
And in the present senate, while the democrats have a nominal majority, a combination of republican and progressive senators actually hold the balance of power and might effect a dominating coalition with the democrats.

No new candidates can be brought into the contest once the election is thrown into congress.
The house must ballot for the three candidates for the presidency who received the most votes in the electoral college, and the senate must make its choice for vice president from the two vice-presidential candidates receiving the most electoral votes.

Thus, in event the balloting on Nov. 4 is not decisive, Coolidge, Davis and La Follette will be the candidates voted for in the house, and Davis and Bryan, or Davies and Wheeler, or Bryan and Wheeler, will be the candidates voted for in the senate.

Should there be a deadlock in the house and that body fail to choose a president before March 4, then the vice president who shall have been elected by the senate shall, in the language of the constitution, "act as president in case of the death
or other constitutional disability of the president."

Should there be a deadlock in the senate, also,
and that body fail to elect a vice president before March 4, the country would be in the amazing predicament of having no chief magistrate to induce into office on inauguration day. No one knows exactly what would happen in that emergency.
Some constitutional authorities say that the presidential ex officio, in case of the death or disability of both the president and vice president. Others contend that there would be no secretary of state, nor any other cabinet member, once Mr. Coolidge has ceased to be president.

States during the war, was destined to stop this.
It appears too late to have any effect. The war bugaboo has been played out. It had its last effective exhibition two years ago.

Low Dockstader, dead minstrel, was an apostle of laughter. No one ever heard him sing "Baby McKee" or do the tremendously funny stunt imitating Roosevelt, who did not remember it. His was the hey-day of minstrelsy, of the days of Jack Haverly and Barlow and George Primrose and the others who followed the Christys and the Emersons when there was only the first part, a few "collo" acts and the afterpiece. Carnotess, which ran for years in Philadelphia and Moore's
in London for more years of negro minstrelsy—
the popular entertainment of the days, have gone forever. Dockstader was one of the best, not only on the stage but a companion who was at home
wherever he landed.

Reports from California show that Hiram is less potent than the hyphen.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

A CITY STREET

A city street
Where hurrying feet
Move ever up and down;
Where day by day
Men seek the way
To fortune and renown.

And some are heard
For higher ground,
And some for bleak despair;
And some for fame,
And some for shame,
And some an hour of prayer.

And some are strong
That move along,
And some are pale and weak;
And some are gay,
With care and zeal,
And some are sung and sleek.

When these are gone
More will come on;
From the self-same way;
And they will be
Like you and me
Who walk the street today.

They, too, will strive
To keep alive,
They, too, will rise and fall;
And God above
Will shed his love
And mercy on them all.

So view the throng
Which moves along
To pleasure or to pain;
And in the street
In time are angels made.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1924

"This is not an important day in planetary influence, according to astrology. Mars in a weak aspect dominates early in the morning, while later Saturn and the Sun are in benefic aspect.
There may be a tendency toward irritability and unreasonableness while this configuration prevails, and the will should be exercised to overcome this mood.

It is not a favorable time for domestic happiness. There should be caution in avoiding entrance to a quarrel.

Military matters will be much discussed at this time and much interest in the National Guard may be awakened.

Farmers come under a favorable rule of the stars and should profit exceedingly next year.
The aged are subject to fairly fortunate influences, making for an increase of body and refreshing conditions of mind.

It is a fairly lucky day for those who seek employment and men will be more fortunate than women.

Repeatedly London astrologers foretell evil
for the King of England, who may suffer a severe sorrow or disappointment.

Premier MacDonald is subject to a planetary rule making for the gravest problems and he will meet many painful enemies.

Women and children in all parts of the world will be the victims of criminals and they should be safeguarded as never before during the coming winter.

Persons whose birthdays it is have the augury
of a pleasant year in which all interests will be satisfactory. Those subjects of Scorpio should make the most of the opportunities that come to them at this time.

Children born on this day may be rash and self-willed, but clever in business affairs and ambitious and able to attain whatever is desired.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

October 29, 1884—Philly Norcross was nominated for assemblyman for the second district at a meeting this afternoon. A district committee, consisting of Silas Hays, S. C. Burnham, E. F.
Carpenter, M. H. Curtis, Wilson Lane, Isaac Miles
and Evan Evans, was appointed by Mayor S. S.
Rockwood, chairman.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

October 29, 1894—Dr. J. W. St. John, Hiram Rumr, Charles L. Valentine and R. C. Yeomans
and this city returned the morning from the Pesticide river country bringing with them 14 deer
which they killed during their two weeks' trip.
—W. O. Wheeler's barn on East street was burned Sunday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

October 29, 1904—The Marshall Shoe factory has put on a full force of men and is expected to work throughout the winter to fill spring orders.—Three hundred Michigan rosters went through here this morning, bound for the football game at Madison this afternoon.

TEN YEARS AGO

October 29, 1914—Rapid progress is being made by city employees on the repairing of Montrey bridge and the construction of the storm sewer on Pleasant street. On the cement sewer the workmen had a serious reverse yesterday when a large section was threatened at the intersection of Pearl street.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW THAT AIN'T SO?

In the Weekly Bulletin of the Chicago department of health, a publication which Chicago people must find exceedingly helpful, the commissioner, Herman M. Rundesen, M. D., recently issued this suggestive observation in a message to the children for school:

"If all parents were fully informed in health matters, preliminary school inspection would not be necessary. For that matter we would need no medical supervision of school children at all. Healthful school conditions, such as ventilation, proper heating and heating, sanitary plumbing, physical training and the right sort of health instruction would then be established fact and not a theory. That many parents do not possess the special knowledge necessary for hygienic supervision of children, if the various sent out at intervals by the health department were more fully heeded by parents, namely to take the children to the family physician during vacation, and see that they are made physically fit for school, there would be a great saving in disease among school children. The health department would much prefer that the family physician make the preliminary inspection and physical examination of the children before they enter school."

Then Dr. Rundesen tells how a staff of 250 physicians and nurses will be engaged for about two weeks, in making the preliminary medical inspection, the primary purpose of which is to detect contagious disease and by excluding pupils who present any suspicious signs preventing its spread to other children in school. With the opening of the schools, the health commissioner remarks, there is a decided increase in the prevalence of both major and minor contagious diseases. (And from the context it is evident that by contagious diseases the commissioner means childhood ailments, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, chicken pox, German measles, and many other infectious diseases.)

The aged are subject to fairly fortunate influences, making for an increase of body and refreshing conditions of mind. It is a fairly lucky day for those who seek employment and men will be more fortunate than women.

Repeatedly London astrologers foretell evil for the King of England, who may suffer a severe sorrow or disappointment.
